Forward-looking statements are subject to risks, uncertainties, assumptions and other factors that may cause actual results to be materially different from those reflected in such forward-looking statements.

For Navient, these factors include, among others, the risks and uncertainties associated with:

- the continuing impact of the COVID-19 pandemic;
- changes in the macroeconomic environment, including interest rates and the value of equities and other financial assets;
- the risks and uncertainties associated with increases in financing costs;
- the availability of financing or limits on our liquidity resulting from disruptions in the capital markets or other factors;
- unanticipated increases in costs associated with compliance with federal, state or local laws and regulations;

- credit risk associated with the company's underwriting standards or exposure to third parties, including counterparties to hedging transactions; and
- changes in the terms of education loans and the educational credit marketplace (including changes resulting from the CARES Act or other new laws and the implementation of existing laws).

The company could also be affected by, among other things:

- unanticipated repayment trends on education loans including prepayments or deferrals resulting from new interpretations of current laws, rules or regulations or future laws, executive orders or other policy initiatives that operate to encourage or require consolidation, abolish existing or create additional income-based repayment or debt forgiveness programs or establish other policies and programs which may increase the prepayment rates on education loans and accelerate repayment of the bonds in our securitization trusts:

- failures of our operating systems or infrastructure or those of third-party vendors;
- risks related to cybersecurity including the potential disruption of our systems or those of our third-party vendors or customers or potential disclosure of confidential customer information:

- changes in the general interest rate environment, including the availability of any relevant money-market index rate, including LIBOR or SOFR, or the relationship between the relevant money-market index rate and the rate at which our assets are priced:
- our ability to successfully effectuate any acquisitions and other strategic initiatives;
- activities by shareholder activists, including a proxy contest or any unsolicited takeover proposal;
- changes in general economic conditions, including the potential impact of persistent inflation; and
- the other factors that are described in the "Risk Factors" section of Navient's Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2022, and in our other reports filed with the SEC.

The preparation of the company's consolidated financial statements also requires management to make certain estimates and assumptions including estimates and assumptions about future events. These estimates or assumptions may prove to be incorrect and actual results could differ materially. All forward-looking statements contained in this release are qualified by these cautionary statements and are made only as of the date of this release. The company does not undertake any obligation to update or revise these forward-looking statements except as required by law.

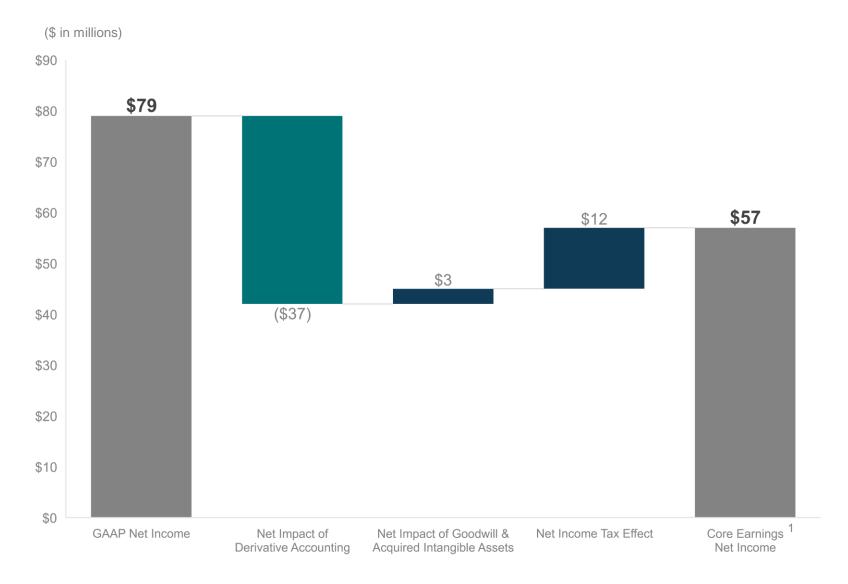

Navient reports financial results on a GAAP basis and also provides certain non-GAAP performance measures, including Core Earnings, Adjusted Tangible Equity Ratio, and various other non-GAAP financial measures derived from Core Earnings. When compared to GAAP results, Core Earnings exclude the impact of: (1) mark-to-market gains/losses on derivatives; and (2) goodwill and acquired intangible asset amortization and impairment. Navient provides Core Earnings measures because this is what management uses when making management decisions regarding Navient's performance and the allocation of corporate resources. Navient Core Earnings are not defined terms within GAAP and may not be comparable to similarly titled measures reported by other companies. For additional information, see Core Earnings in Navient's third quarter earnings release and pages 11 – 13 of this presentation for a further discussion and a complete reconciliation between GAAP net income and Core Earnings.

3Q 2023 GAAP to Core Earnings

- We evaluate our business segments on a basis that differs from GAAP
- We refer to this different basis as Core Earnings ¹
- The two items we remove to result in Core Earnings are:
 - Mark-to-market gains/losses from our use of derivative instruments that:
 - hedge economic risks that do not qualify for hedge accounting treatment, or
 - do qualify for hedge accounting treatment but result in ineffectiveness
 - The accounting for goodwill and acquired intangible assets

Notes on Non-GAAP Financial Measures

In addition to financial results reported on a GAAP basis, Navient also provides certain performance measures which are non-GAAP financial measures. Definitions for the non-GAAP financial measures and reconciliations are provided below and in the body of the company's quarterly earnings release, except that reconciliations of forward-looking non-GAAP financial measures are not provided because the company is unable to provide such reconciliations without unreasonable effort due to the uncertainty and inherent difficulty of predicting the occurrence and financial impact of certain items, including, but not limited to, the impact of any mark-to-market gains/losses resulting from our use of derivative instruments to hedge our economic risks. The following non-GAAP financial measures are presented within this presentation:

- Core Earnings The difference between the company's Core Earnings and its GAAP results is that Core Earnings excludes the impacts of: (1) mark-to-market gains/losses on derivatives and (2) goodwill and acquired intangible asset amortization and impairment. Management uses Core Earnings in making decisions regarding the company's performance and the allocation of corporate resources and, as a result, our segment results are presented using Core Earnings. In addition, Navient's equity investors, credit rating agencies and debt capital investors use these Core Earnings measures to monitor the company's business performance. For further detail and reconciliation, see pages 11 12 of this presentation and pages 18 28 of Navient's third quarter 2023 earnings release.
- Adjusted Tangible Equity Ratio (ATE) The Adjusted Tangible Equity Ratio measures Navient's tangible equity, relative to its tangible assets. We adjust this ratio to exclude the assets and equity associated with our FFELP portfolio because FFELP Loans are no longer originated and the FFELP portfolio bears a 3% maximum loss exposure under the terms of the federal guaranty. Management believes that excluding this portfolio from the ratio enhances its usefulness to investors. To determine Adjusted Tangible Equity Ratios, we calculate the Adjusted Tangible Equity, (GAAP Total Equity less Goodwill & Acquired Intangible Assets less Equity held for FFELP Loans) and divide by Adjusted Tangible Assets (Total Assets less Goodwill & Acquired Intangible Assets less FFELP Loans). For further detail and reconciliation, see page 27 of Navient's third quarter 2023 earnings release.
- Earnings before Interest, Taxes, Depreciation and Amortization Expense ("EBITDA") This metric measures the operating performance of the Business Processing segment and is used by management and our equity investors to monitor operating performance and determine the value of those businesses. For further detail and reconciliation, see page 27 of Navient's third quarter 2023 earnings release.
- Allowance for Loan Losses Excluding Expected Future Recoveries on Previously Fully Charged-off Loans This metric excludes the expected future recoveries on previously fully charged-off loans to better reflect the current expected credit losses remaining in connection with the loans on balance sheet that have not charged off. For further detail, see page 28 of Navient's third quarter 2023 earnings release.

Footnotes

- 1. Item is a Non-GAAP Financial Measure. See page 13 of this presentation and pages 18 28 of Navient's third quarter 2023 earnings release for descriptions and reconciliation.
- 2. After rounding, year to date 2023 combined regulatory and restructuring costs were $74 million. After rounding, regulatory costs were $2 million in each of the first and second quarters 2023 and $47 million in the third quarter of 2023, and restructuring costs were $4 million in the first quarter of 2023, $15 million in the second quarter of 2023, and $4 million in the third quarter of 2023. In the third quarter of 2023, $45 million of the $47 million was related to recent developments in connection with CFPB matters. The Company accrues a liability for legal and regulatory matters when those matters present loss contingencies that are both probable and reasonably estimable. When loss contingencies are not both probable and estimable, we do not establish reserves. The Company evaluates its outstanding legal and regulatory matters each reporting period, and makes adjustments to the accrued liabilities for such matters, upward or downward, as appropriate, based on the relevant facts and circumstances. Due to recent developments in connection with the Company's CFPB matter, the Company accrued a probable incurred loss of $45 million in the third quarter of 2023. The litigation process is not predictable and can lead to unexpected results. Therefore, it is reasonably possible that the Company's exposure to loss may exceed any amounts accrued.
- 3. On a quarterly basis, management evaluates its accounting estimates. In third-quarters 2023 and 2022, the net charge-off rate on defaulted Private Education Loans increased from 81.9% to 82.3% and from 81.7% to 81.9%, respectively. These charges resulted in a $25 million and $30 million reduction in the balance of expected future recoveries on previously fully charged-off loans in third-quarters 2023 and 2022, respectively. More discussion about the Critical Accounting Policies and Estimates can be found in Navient's 2022 Form 10-K.
- 4. Projections are based on internal estimates and assumptions and are subject to ongoing review and modification. These projections may prove to be incorrect.
